When you come to think of it, it is not odd that literary people prefer a pipe to a cigar. It is handier to smoke when they are writing, and ever so much cleaner. And then it gives them the true essence and flavor of the tobacco.

The most fastidious smokers among all nations and all classes of men agree that the tobacco grown on the Golden Tobacco Belt of North Carolina is the most delic ious and refined in the world. Lighter in Turkish, more fragrant than Havans, freer from nitrates and nicotine than any other, it s just what the conncissour praises and the habitual smoker demands. The very choicest tobacco grown on this Belt is bought by Black
